RELATIONAL CHANGE GATHERING 2016:
Presence, Passion & Purpose

What does it mean to be present to our lives, passionate in how we engage and connected to our purpose in the world?

Led by Relational Change founders, Marie-Anne Chidiac and Sally Denham-Vaughan, this one-day workshop will build on the notion of 'presence' located at the centre of the Relational Change "SOS" model. The latter describes a state of being fully embodied, resonant with the current environment, energetically available and ready to respond. In this state we bring all of our future potential, and previous experience into the present moment.

The interlinking of presence, passion and purpose will be explored from an individual perspective and also from an organisational or community lens. We will consider the relationship between "SOS" and "Theory U" and suggest that together, and separately, they offer a process of sensing, aligning, resourcing, integrating and acting which is a potent vehicle for individual, group and organizational change.

Whether you are new to Relational Change or have attended one of our previous events, you are welcome to join us for this low cost CPD event in central London.

RelationalChange℠
Better relationships. Better world.

Main Gathering:
19th October 2016
9.30am – 4.30pm

Venue:
Kensington Unitarians,
112 Palace Gardens
Terrace, Notting Hill,
London, W8 4RT
(Near Notting Hill Gate tube station)

Cost: £40

For more information or to book a place:
Go to Eventbrite
Relational Change Gathering tickets

Enquiries: Contact
sueg@relationalchange.org

Social Gathering:
We will also meet for dinner from 6.30pm on Tues 18th October, details to follow.